3. Current account deficit to widen as demand slowdown abroad hits India's exports; may hit 3.8% of GDP.

India's current account deficit is set to rise as demand slowdown in developed economies hits exports. The country's current account balance is expected to further widen to roughly $40 billion in Q2FY23, according to Rahul Bajoria, India Economist, Barclays. The possibility of widening exists despite the improvement in trade deficit recently reported by the Reserve Bank of India. India's current account deficit, Bajoria believes, may leap to $115 billion (3.3 per cent of GDP) in FY23, from $38.7 billion (1.2 percent of GDP) in FY22.
